PASSES INTO HISTORY.

St. Pierre Takes Place by Side of Pompeii.

Scientists Think Fort De France is Safe.

Gratitude to the American People for Promptness in Relief Work.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

CASTRIES (Island of St. Lucia) Sunday, May 25.—[By West Indian Cable.] St. Pierre, Martinique, is no longer of interest except to the scientists. Mont. Pelee is still active, but all within its range are dead or have fled. Fort de France is quiet, after an influx of its inhabitants to the neighboring colonies. The Martinique suffers no sufficient food for the present.

The St. Vincent volcano, La Soufrière, is quiet. The total loss of life as a result of its eruptions is finally placed at 1700, about the original estimate. The wounded and burned number 600. Many of those in the hospitals cannot recover. More than 4000 persons are dead. They are receiving adequate relief.

The material damage done in St. Vincent is principally to the plantations. Many of the sugar works may be restored. The lava stream passed behind Georgetown, which, with Chateaux-Elair, was uninjured.

RELIEF WORK.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

FORT DE FRANCE (Island of Martinique) May 25, 6 p.m.—The United States cruiser Cincinnati arrived here from Port of Spain this morning, and left at once for Port de Rico. The steamer Fontebelle reached here at 9 a.m., with 180 tons of supplies from the Chamber of Commerce of New York and other citizens. Among her passengers are W. H. Corwine, who was specially named by President Roosevelt as secretary to the various bodies in the United States working for the relief of the sufferers; Prof. Angelo Heilprin and other scientists, Corwine and Capt. Scott, brother of Capt. Scott, and Capt. R. R. Rainey were presented to Gov. L'Herrier and the French delegates today. The steamer Tropas has been placed at the disposal of Corwine to visit St. Vincent. Her departure is imminent.

Capt. Scott visited the survivors of the steamship Roraima at the hospitals today.

Prof. Robert T. Hill, the eminent geologist with his party, has chartered a steamer and is carefully studying the volcano from the sea. George Kennan, with a land party, is examining the Northern part of the island.

La Soufrière was very quiet yesterday, although there was a great eruption of ashes which covered the extreme north of the island. The new crater is active.

General Rainey investigated the method employed in the distribution of supplies and has informed Gov. L'Herrier that he considers it excellent. It is expected official notification will be issued that sufficient supplies have been received.

TELEGRAMS STILL PENDING.

Most of the refugees who have come into Fort de France have deserted the town for points farther south, as terror still possesses all souls and Fort de France is believed to be doomed. All business is suspended, as the amount of supplies received has killed sales.

Admiral Servan and the citizens are unanimous in expressions of gratitude for the genuine friendship of the American people which has been manifested by the government, which has sent quantities of supplies have been furnished and forwarded, and the "charter" of the delegates in charge of them, Prof. de France, has gone to the islands of Guadeloupe, Dominica and St. Lucia, and as many more are trying to get away. The simple object of all minds is escape from the island.

The scientists are divided in opinion as to whether or not new and more violent outbursts are to be witnessed. A majority of them think volcanic energy will die down for a long time, but that further outbursts will occur, as there are no large places left to be destroyed, and Fort de France, they say, is absolutely safe from any possible outbursts of Mont Pelee.

Admiral Servan today called upon United States Consul Aymer to express to him his high appreciation of what the United States has done for the victims of the disaster.

For two days heavy rains have fallen.

ST. VINCENT'S AFFLICTION.

REPORT OF CAPT. GALLAGHER.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Capt. G. Corbin has received the following cablegram from Capt. J. Gallagher, Commissary Department, dated St. Vincent, May 24:

"Area of devastation St. Vincent about twelve square miles in northern extremity. Population of this area was 8000, of which 1600 lost their lives, the remainder escaping by flight to Kingston and other places. No such overwhelming catastrophe as at St. Pierre yet made. The situation is to be suspended by public, because many escaped. Outside of area devastated no great damage done, but people very apprehensive. The condition of the country outside of the volcano, which is still active, is second eruption occurred 18th, but no additional damage done.

"Supplies of all kinds from Dixie must be sent to St. Lucia, and will, with what was on hand, provide the present population for three months. Lumber for rebuilding is asked. Nothing is known of any disturbance outside of St. Vincent and Martique, but the emergency has been met, would advise sending supplies gradually, and only after inquiry as to actual needs. A great quantity sent at once might prove most embarrassing, though beneficial. Stores on Dixie well selected.

Secretary Moody also received the following cablegram from Capt. Berry of the Dixie, dated St. Lucia, May 25: "No tide discharging remains of fort at Kingston, where most needed. Provisions now on hand for several months. Lumber for houses needed. Volcanic active. No additional damage. Cases of rescued and injured approximately 3000, well in hand by local authorities."

DELIVERY OF LUMBER.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The Navy Department has added one more, and perhaps the last, to the good offices which it has been called upon to perform in behalf of the West India volcano. It is reported that the lumber to live in by the homeless people of St. Vincent is a large quantity of lumber, which the Canadian government has given. The lumber is coming by rail from Canada to Norfolk, the journey being made by the Canadian Pacific, and will be loaded on the collier Leonidas and be transported directly to St. Vincent.

RELIEF WORK.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

FORT DE FRANCE (Island of Martinique) May 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The steamer Cincinnati, American line have issued a circular, divulging the terms of the agreement concluded between the Morgan Shipping company and the Hamburg-American and the North German Lloyd lines. The two German companies undertake to pay the combine an annual sum equal to dividend on shares amounting to at least twenty million marks. This provision was agreed upon when the capital of the Comte had been sold to the Hamburg-American, and the amount of an increase in the capital, a contingency which meanwhile has arisen, the combine reserves the right of increasing the annual sum accruing to it to an amount equaling dividends of 22 per cent. of the capital stock.

The combine, in return, pledges its efforts to touch at French ports, and as far as possible to send a corresponding amount of capital, and not to send any ships to a German port, without the consent of the German companies. The Hamburg-American lines then trade from British ports. They can, however, continue the existing service. The Germans are not to be precluded from including in their ports of call hereafter British ports from which they do not receive service, nor from running their South American, Mexican and West Indian services from British ports, even though the combine utilizes the ports of the partner.

The combine, on the other hand, undertakes to allow two ships weekly in each direction to touch at French ports. The Germans are debarred from touching at British ports, and are not to go to and from North America, and agree not to touch at English ports exceeding seventy-five times for each company each way, making an aggregate of 1500 round trips. The Germans are entitled to an increase proportionately.

STOCKTON, May 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The briefest will ever filed in the local Superior Court was offered today for probate by Attorney C. W. Norton. It is pronounced by attorneys to be one of the strongest legal documents of its kind they have ever seen, notwithstanding the maker had no lawyer when he drew it. Here is what it will:

LESTER MCLACHLAN FOUND, BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. SALINAS, May 26.—Lester McLachlan, who disappeared from his father's ranch in New Mexico, has been found. A letter was received by Miss Mabel McLaughlin from the town of Coon, notifying her that her brother was sick there with brain fever. The Mayor of the city, who writes the letter, states that Lester has just recovered consciousness sufficient to talk. He is not able to walk. He cannot tell anything of his wanderings after leaving Lamy, N. M., 700 miles from Trinidad. Mrs. McLaughlin is the widow of Lester's father, who will be at once for him.

Young McLaughlin was thrown from his horse a short time before his disappearance, and it is believed that his brain became affected as a result of the fall.

TACKLED WRONG MAN.

DESPERADO FATALLY WOUNDED, BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. TACOMA, May 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A tramp attempted to hold up two stockmen on a freight train near Huntington last night. One of the tramps, a negro, was mortally wounded, and one of the stockmen was seriously wounded, but will recover.

The stockmen, who live on Upper Street, were returning from the East. The negro crawled into the car through an end door and commanded the stockmen to throw up their hands, which command was complied with. The two men fired, hitting one of the stockmen. The wounded stockman crawled back into the rear and got his revolver and opened fire on the tramps. The negro was shot twice. Then, and another two tramps, both white men, jumped off the train. The stockmen who killed one of the other men, two wounded men were brought this city, and the officers have gone in search of the other members of the gang.

WASHINGTON BAY.

REAGUE LARGELY INCREASED, BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. TACOMA, May 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The large brewing companies of Milwaukee, St. Louis and Chicago have placed large orders at fancy prices for Eastern Washington barley that the acreage sown to that grain in Columbia and Walla Walla counties has been increased from 20,000 acres last year to 30,000 acres this season. Over half of the expected crop has been contracted for, many farmers prefer raising barley to wheat. Wheat has been the only other grain that may be grown three years in succession on the same land.

The price of barley has advanced from 22 cents per bushel, not many years ago, to 25 cents per bushel. This makes it considerably profitable, and the excellence of the Washington product causes it to be greatly desired by both eastern and western brewers. C. W. Colman of Dayton, a heavy grain buyer, says, ten years ago, the eastern barley crop went to California. For nearly five years no California buyers have appeared, because eastern brewers are willing to pay better than the market price. This shuts out the California buyer, except for brewing purposes.

THREE MEN SHOT.

RESULT OF HOLD-UP, BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. WHACOM (Wash.), May 26.—At about midnight last night two men held up a saloon, known as "Wac's place." In accomplishing their robbery and effecting their escape from the place, three men were shot, one probably seriously.

They are: POLICEMAN ANDERS PETERSON, on the left side just below the door, who will likely die; POLICEMAN A. GRANDEAU, in the right side, will recover; THOMAS DERRIER, bartender, shot through the right shoulder, not seriously.

Labeled Steamship Valencia.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—F. A. Clegg, D. E. Clegg, W. Clegg, W. Clegg, W. Clegg and Grant Clegg filed a brief today in the United States District Court against the steamship Valencia to recover damages in the amount of $1,000. The complaint alleges that May 24, the Valencia, while en route to San Francisco, started to enter the San Francisco harbor, and the robbers commenced shooting. The policeman received a wound in the under the heart, which is expected to prove fatal.

The robbers retreated a few steps further and opened the till, from which they obtained only $3.

In making their escape they were observed by Night Watchman Grandjean of the Puget Sound Packing Company's cannery, who notified the police. Here the robbers had an ascend, steep mound known as Devil's Point. A lasso cord was thrown around this, and, in the darkness, Watchman Grandjean and Policeman Defries mistook each other, and commenced firing, exchanging seven shots. The robbers were wounded in the right side. Posse were quickly formed, and sent to try and intercept the fugitives.

During the afternoon the steamers Sifton and Casca arrived, each bringing a number of passengers.

At 5 o'clock in the morning, when the Sybil's first whistle was heard, the people of Dawson began to turn out, and soon the streets and wharves were black with throngs. Everybody was glad that Dawson was again connected with the outside world by more powerful means of locomotion than stages and teams. The event was celebrated by a happy mingling of those arriving and those who wintered at Dawson.

The steamer Bailey started for White Horse that night, carrying a full load of passengers and a heavy mail. She brought up the river the first gold dust from this year's clean-up, and over fifty passengers, each having large amounts.

diplomatic incident tending to disturb the extremely cordial relations existing between Germany and the United States will probably result. This statement is made on authority that cannot be questioned, and to it was added the expression that if the Berlin report is authentic, the United States government would be obliged to ask the German government to withdraw its naval attaché in Washington immediately.

FIFTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) WASHINGTON, May 26.—SENATE.—Soon after the Senate convened today, Ms. Gallinger of New Hampshire offered a resolution providing that the Judiciary Committee of the Senate should make an investigation into the subject of lynching in the United States with the view of ascertaining if there be any remedy for them.

Mr. Gallinger said he introduced the resolution in view of the fact that he might be charged with precipitating a sectional controversy, but nothing was further from his thoughts. He said the lynchings were not confined to the South. Horrible cases had occurred in the North, and white men, as well as blacks, had been the victims. During the past ten years 265 lynchings had occurred in the United States. If the strong arm of the law could prevent such occurrences, he desired it would do so, and that the American Press, in its account of the negro burning in Texas a few days ago, "had history" did not furnish a more fiendish instance of man's wrath, and for the "Book of Man" type of lynchings in comparison. The whole wretched business, he said, was a disgrace to American manhood, in the light of which the alleged atrocities in the Philippines paled into insignificance.

The Spanish inquisition did not furnish a case exceeding that one in inhumanity. He apprehended that it would be said that the general government had exclusive jurisdiction. If so, the American people desired to know it.

Mr. Bailey of Texas said he had no idea of being drawn into any sectional controversy by the Senator from New Hampshire, and he would be willing to have the people judge the men who passed the Senate bill.

Mr. Bailey, however, did not care to discuss, to the question whether the government had the right to go into the several States and take charge of the peace and good order. He asked, therefore, that the resolution go over.

"There can be no objection," said Mr. Bailey, "to a representation from the Judiciary Committee to the Senate that the Senate can do what it can, but one conclusion reached by that committee. But if, in the course of its investigation, it should undertake to pass a bill before the committee, to prohibit the lynchings and burnings that have occurred in any section over a nameless offense, and all the murders of women and children and all the abductions which have occurred in other sections of the country, the only result it seems to me would be to make us think less of ourselves as a people, and as a nation, and have little disposition to indulge in the pastime myself."

The resolution went over. Subsequently Mr. Culberson of Texas had read the story of the burning of a negro at Newbern, Kan., and the fact understood that these crimes occurred in other States than Texas. He hoped the New Hampshire Senator, when referring to the future, would not confine himself to one State.

Mr. Hoar, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said his committee had had the subject under consideration, and the matter had been reported by him adversely. The matter had been considered as a question of constitutional law and duty.

The conference report on the Fortieth-Anniversary Bill was agreed to in conference.

The Philippine Bill was then taken up, and Mr. Patterson of Colorado made a speech in opposition to it. Mr. Foraker, in his speech, the editorials from the Denver News, which Mr. Foraker had read in the course of his speech. These editorials strongly urged the retention of the Philippines, and advocated the government's policy in the islands. Mr. Patterson said he was responsible for the utterances of the Denver News, then and now. Just prior to the ratification of the Paris treaty, he had changed his opinion, and since then had not been frank and candid in his quotations from the Denver News.

Mr. Patterson had misrepresented the situation in the Philippines. He had read some extracts from editorials in the Denver News, since the time referred to, declaring that the most "sublime and glorious national deed" which the United States could do would be to extend independence to the Philippines. He urged that Mr. Foraker had not been frank and candid in his quotations from the Denver News.

Mr. Patterson insisted that Mr. Foraker had omitted editorials which presented the question in its true light. These editorials declared that they were a reflex of the "comerograph" dispatches from the Philippines.

In answer to an inquiry from Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Patterson said he had advocated the retention of the Philippines by the United States. From that time he had hoped for the Philippine independence. Referring to the opening of the session, he said, "I am sure the Filipinos, February 4, 1899, Mr. Patterson declared that somebody was dictating the tenor of the news sent from the United States to other sources. He intended that it was the purpose to conceal the facts regarding the situation.

QUOTES FORAKER.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) WASHINGTON, May 26.—In his argument, Mr. Patterson quoted from a speech of Mr. Foraker, made in January, to the effect that he had no sympathy with those who talked of "making war on" Austria-Hungary and his followers in their struggle for liberty and independence.

Mr. Foraker explained that the war referred to was the war between the United States and the Philippines, but the war between Spain and the Philippines.

Mr. Patterson held that that could not be the case, as Manila had failed to the Americans, and the Spanish had been sent to their homes.

HOW THE TIMES TREATS LABOR.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES pays to its skilled workmen wages that average from $3.75 to $4.50 per day for time work, and from $4 to $5.50 per day for piece work. These rates are higher than are paid by any competing newspaper. The Times pays larger sums weekly, monthly and yearly for labor than any journal in all the Southwest. Its cash disbursements on this account between August, 1890, and the end of September, 1891, aggregated $1,000,000, and its annual expenditures for labor of all classes, both skilled and unskilled, now average more than $1,750,000 per year. There never has been any attempt, in any quarter, to deny these specific and telling facts, and the proprietors challenge such denial if made. The Times has a more skillful, reliable and satisfactory force of workmen than any rival newspaper establishment; and for years has had any trouble with its workmen, who are independent of unions, loyal to their employers and to themselves, well satisfied and prosperous. The Times controls its own business in its own way, subject only to the laws of the land; and no interference with that control can be lawfully or justly made. The result of its fixed policy has proven highly beneficial to all concerned, and the justness and correctness of its course have for years past received public approval in most marked and conspicuous ways, the circulation and advertising patronage of the paper steadily and largely outstripping that of all local rivals.

BUSINESS.

Clearances sent by the Los Angeles banks yesterday amounted to $899,645.35, contrasting with $630,444.57 for the corresponding day last year. Both figures are a full average, indicating a fairly active use of money.

Wheat fluctuated in the Chicago grain pit within a narrow range, but closed firm and a fraction higher. St. Paul and Union Pacific were largely speculated in at New York, and Canadian Pacific also continued very active.

A SCANDALOUS SHAME.

It is now 142 hours and thirty-five minutes since The Times called the attention of the authorities to the dev't's and doubtful operations of a smooth and oily Los Angeles manipulator, in connection with certain corporations, purporting to exist for the extraction of oil from the bowels of the earth, but which, so far, have been mainly instrumental in extracting coin from the pockets of confiding investors.

It is exactly thirty-seven hours and forty-two minutes since The Times, further, called the attention of the duly constituted authorities whose duty it is to take cognizance of such things, to further dubious actions of this same individual, in connection with a wire pulling scheme, which involved the fleecing of an inexperienced person and several unprotected widows.

What has the Chief of Police done, in connection with this exposé of The Times? Has he made any arrests? Has he made any report? Has he even made any investigations?

Not that we are aware.

Furthermore, what have the other public authorities done in connection with this pressing and sensational exposure of wrong doing? What has the City Council done? What has the Mayor done? What has the County Coroner done?

Nothing—absolutely nothing—is the damning answer which stares these inactive and unworthy officials in the face. That they still have the courage to look at, or anything else, in the face, is doubtful. Rather, like rats, they sink into their dark holes in the city and county buildings, away from the blinding wrath of an outraged and indignant public opinion, which preparing to burst, like another Mount Pelee, upon their miserable heads.

What is the reason for this continued silence? Has not The Times said enough? Is not the entire question as clear as mud? Can it be that our city authorities are too busy investigating the reasons which impel lowly youths and senile hayseeds to bask in the smiles of hardened harridans, in underground cellars, at several dollars per basket, and that consequently they have no time to devote to this much more urgent and important question? The excuse will not avail them. So far as The Times is concerned, it has no wish to dictate to the officials what they shall do. It simply asks that they do their plain duty, regardless of outside influences. These operations have been conducted in violation of the law, the offenses have been flagrant. To say that the headquarters of these operations is a dangerous menace to the community may be a trite expression, but it is not an idle one. The question is one that deeply concerns every taxpayer, every father, every uncle, and indirectly every person in the municipality. Why do officials, sworn to enforce the law, as was anticipated, the disaster to the Bradbury Building at Paris has given numerous other proofs a sudden chill. It is not unlikely that the St. Louis Exposition will not be a witness to the successful navigation of that element in which the birds have a monopoly that they are likely to hold onto longer than J. Pierp. Morgan does onto the steel business of this world.

Two million cases of disease cured by Christian Science." That is surely a fine record. But let us have the proof.

THE STRONGEST GOLD NATION.

As shown by a recent official statement, the treasury of the United States contains about $550,000,000 of gold. This is the largest stock of gold in the world, and its possession places the United States in the front rank, from a financial point of view. The treasury of France comes next, with a holding of $497,000,000 in gold. Russia has $381,000,000, and Great Britain $172,000,000 on hand.

Commenting upon the holding of so large an amount of gold in our national treasury, the New York Press expresses the opinion that it is in large part due to the protective tariff policy which has been in operation in the United States for some years past. "When an article is manufactured here instead of being made abroad and imported," says the Press, "there is a distinct addition to the wealth of the country of an amount equal to the difference between the value of the raw material and the value of the product. As the protective system adds many millions annually to our actual wealth, the volume of credit required by the process of exchanging this wealth is also increased. For the volume of credit in a peaceful civilized nation tends to be larger and larger all the time, so that a less percentage of the total business is transacted by the exchange of cash every year. The presence of gold in the public treasury instead of its disappearance into private hoards as in times of distrust, is a vote of public confidence in which every coin is a favorable ballot."

There is undoubtedly much truth in this view of the case. It is a fact not to be gainsaid that our country has enjoyed its greatest prosperity during those periods in which the protective tariff has operated most freely. The unprecedented season of prosperity which we are enjoying at the present time is due in part, but not wholly, to the rehabilitation of the protective tariff laws in 1897. One of the potent factors in bringing about these desirable conditions was the overwhelming defeat of the free-silver fallacy in 1896, and the firm establishment of the policy and the finances of the government upon the gold basis. This was an influence of incalculable value in restoring confidence throughout the land; and through the restoration of confidence, enterprise was encouraged, capital was drawn into productive channels, labor was provided with profitable and abundant employment, hope and courage revived, and the step from industrial depression to industrial activity was comparatively short and easy.

If ever a theory was discredited, disapproved, and completely overthrown, the free-silver coöperation theory was so treated in the national campaign of 1896. From that time dates the era of this nation's greatest prosperity. The results which followed the turning away from the free-silver fallacy were almost diametrically opposite to the results which were predicted by the silverite theorists. Instead of a thorough and rigid investigation.

The Times cannot believe that Governor Gage is guilty implicated in these charges, and will not believe him guilty, even by indirection, until the charges shall have been proven beyond the peradventure of a doubt. Even if he was a guest at the table of Wardens Aguirre, wherein stolen goods were served up as part of the hospitable menu, the conclusion is not to be jumped at that the Governor had any guilty knowledge of the alleged irregularity and dishonest procurement of the "vittles." A guest is not supposed to inquire into the matter of where his host procured his edibles.

The Times is opposed to the reelection of Henry T. Gage as Governor of California, and believes there are ample and legitimate reasons for his rejection by the people; but it will not believe that personal dishonesty is one of those reasons, though he has notoriously appointed dishonest men to office.

As to Martin Aguirre, he sprang from this community and is thoroughly well known here by thousands of people. He never had, here in his home city, the reputation of being dishonest, and The Times is not yet prepared to believe that The Call's charges against him personally can be true. It is possible that there is a ring in the State prison at San Quentin which has been engaged in plundering the State, and it is even possible that the charges referred to are true as to that ring, and it is also possible that Aguirre is culpable because of the alleged fact that such things went on under a prison administration of which he is the immediate head, though he may have had no personal knowledge of the dishonest practice. But that he knowingly participated in the alleged speculations, we do not as yet feel warranted in believing.

A rigid investigation should be made into the entire affair, and the truth be made known to the State and to the world. If the incquisition results in the vindication of the accused officials, The Times will be glad, and will proclaim the result with pleasure. If the opposite proves to be true, the facts will be published.

The growth and industrial activity in this portion and part of the Pacific Coast, particularly in Southern California, has probably not been equaled in the history of the West. Not a day goes by that we do not learn of some new undertaking of staggering magnitude. Raw lands and native materials are being developed by men of means and enterprise; mines are being opened; trees planted; houses constructed; railroads built; harbors made, and the end is not yet. The railroads, the railroads, the railroads. They will be located in Los Angeles, where a picnic can be had without fear that the custard pie will get filled up with rain.

As was anticipated, the disaster to the Bradbury Building at Paris has given numerous other proofs a sudden chill. It is not unlikely that the St. Louis Exposition will not be a witness to the successful navigation of that element in which the birds have a monopoly that they are likely to hold onto longer than J. Pierp. Morgan does onto the steel business of this world.

The lynching of negroes still goes on, and the normal American continues to blush for some sections of his country, and for some portion of his constituency. It seems to be about time for the national government to take a hand in this thing, looking to a stop to such proceedings as disgrace this people, and their flag, which is presumed to stand for law, order and good government.

The status of the currency is seemingly almost as bad, in the Philip-

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Yesterday the Council instructed the City Attorney to make an estimate of the overcharge made by the Journal in publishing the city ordinances last year. Wilson demanded in a communication that the Express also be made to do so.

The Council yesterday voted to retain the extra force in the street department.

Rush of street improvement all over the city is now keeping the city officials busy.

Franchise for a street-car line in Boyle Heights was sold to the Pacific Electric Railway Company yesterday.

The District Attorney has decided that the Supervisors have the right to submit the license question in saloon election to the people at the coming election.

Justus Lee, a halfbreed Indian, was indicted by the Federal grand jury yesterday for shooting Lavoria Pena, one of the bucks of the Mesa Grande tribe.

W. M. Meece, who caught black bass out of season at the city parks by inducing them to jump into an open boat, was fined $20 in the Police Court yesterday.

AT THE CITY HALL.

R EDUCATION TO BE MADE IN PRINTING CHARGES.

MANAGER WILSON OBJECTS TO THE SOLE DISTINCTION.

Demands of the Council That Manager Cover Be Given a Chance to Refund Some of the Money Obtained by the Express When That Paper Held the Contract.

Manager Warren Wilson of the Los Angeles Daily Journal has experienced a change of heart since he instructed his attorney to appear before the Council in caucus and offer restitution of the overcharge on the printing contract last year. The answer was that the contract for the present year was pending and Manager Wilson was prepared to make concessions. Against the advice of President Powers the offer was rejected. Now the city apparently has a fight on its hands.

At the morning session of the Council yesterday the demand of the Journal for $765.50 was presented by the City Auditor in accordance with the request of several individual members.

Payment of the demands has been refused and it was desired to arrive at some method of determining the exact amount of the overcharge which has been variously estimated at between $300 and $500.

When Manager Wilson made his offer, some weeks ago, he consented to pay the overcharge to the City Attorney, might add, to the overcharge, and after some discussion the following motion, introduced by Bowen, was adopted:

"The City Attorney is hereby requested to make a demand of the amount to be paid by the Daily Journal Company for printing and publishing the delinquent tax list last year over and above the amount due under the contract for the use of larger type than was authorized."

In speaking to the question Pierce objected to holding up the demand on the ground that it was arbitrary action and that another action was open for the Council to recover the amount of the excess charges.

Bowen insisted that the Council had the right to hold up the demand. He denied that the overcharge had been admitted and that the City Attorney should be deputized to find out the amount. The motion carried unanimously.

After the afternoon session Manager Wilson had an inning. He believes it unfair that the Journal should be made to repay an overcharge unless the Evening Express gets the same kind of treatment. The Council had unanimously filed the following communication relating to the matter:

"I understand that by resolution you have ordered the City Attorney to make an investigation into the overcharge by the Daily Journal Company in the printing of the delinquent tax list last year. I desire to call your attention to the testimony of C. W. American Type Founders' Company and Garner Curran, manager of the South-West Printers' Supply Company, both of whom in a communication to your honorable city stated that the overcharge by the Journal in the publication of all ordinances and other advertisements (except the delinquent tax list) during its contract last year was non-existent. This may be true, but the Evening Express the previous year was printing and that in the printing of the tax list both the Journal and Express used more."

"The statements of Messrs. Flanagan and Curran are not sufficient to convince your honorable body. I have in my possession the signed statement of Fred Allen, that at the time of the printing of the said city ordinances and tax list in the Evening Express, was the manager of that publication, that all of said ordinances and tax lists were printed by the Evening Express.

"It is to advise your honorable body that the Daily Journal will not be made a scapegoat without a vigorous protest, in an alleged and false charge that has been leveled at the Evening Express.

"I hereby demand that your investigations and report cover the period of the city printing by the Evening Express, as well as the period of the printing by the Journal, and the parts of which, occurred during the term of the present Council.

"It seems proper to me that with the investigations of your office, it is the mother coming from to pay them?" queried Pierce.

"There is no money available. He declared that the reason he had favored the Evening Express was because its rates are short and business cannot be done without money.

Pierce declared that it would be merely a waste of time to refer the communication to the committee, as there was no money available.

He declared that the reason he had favored the Evening Express was because its rates are short and business cannot be done without money.

"It is easy enough to say that we will keep the laborers retained, but it is not a technical overcharge to my part, but violation of our contract—if violation it was—occurred through being guided by the printer's rule of 'follow copy,' which in this case was the Evening Express, and therefore becomes an important factor in determining the degree of our overcharge."

From the tone of Manager Wilson's letter, it is plain that he does not intend to come like a lamb to the slaughter. When the City Attorney has made the desired estimate it will remain for the Council to apply such force as will be in the power of the city to the City Fathers to force the payment of the city treasury. Bowen says it can be done, and the rest of the City Fathers expect him to furnish the proper method of bringing it about.

Tax Collector White yesterday secured from the Council a special order directing that display headings be placed over the tax list at the time of the sale.

He reported that the Journal is now adhering strictly to the contract, and that only the regulation type of

would be used, unless the Council ordered otherwise.

Because the majority of the Council wished to have additional figures as to the cost of printing a summary in the four daily papers every Tuesday morning, the Council, the report of the Finance Committee, recommending that contracts for 2000 inches be prepared with each paper, was sidetracked and action deferred until next week.

SCOTCHMAN TURNED OVER.

David Thompson Sent Back to the Old Country to Answer to a Charge of Embezzlement.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI)—Exclusive, Dispatch.—At New York last night, C. G. Marshall Crosby turned over to the Chief Constable of Scotland, David Thompson, a Scotchman who is charged with having embezzled $70,000 from the Scottish town where his father is magistrate. Two years ago the father became manager of a loan company, and handled large sums in building operations. His son, who assisted him, began playing the races, and is charged with having embezzled the company funds. He then fled, accompanied by the daughter of a sea captain. On arrival in New York they were married, and went to Texas. Leaving his wife there, young Thompson came to Puget Sound, and was arrested in Seattle several months ago. Marshall Crosby learned from British officers that Thompson's father furnished them clues which led to his arrest.

The father has never had all his property in an attempt to settle the old score, and is financially ruined.

Thompson is thirty years old. His wife hurried from Texas to New York and wished to go to England with him, but was required by the officers to take another steamer.

TRY HOME TUMBLING.

Take to the Floor Like Youngsters and Limber Stiffened Joints—Fun and Muscle Culture.

BY HORACE BITTENWORTH.

Instructor of Physical Culture, University of Chicago.

THE form of gymnastics which is the most agreeable is the one usually adhered to the longest, and, in general, is the one which will produce the best results.

The means of exercise most commonly selected by people of sedentary life are arm and leg raisings, trunk undulations and leg raisings without apparatus, the same with resistance from the group of muscles opposite to the group acting, similar work with dumb-bells or wands in the hands, and exercises with chest machines (pulley weights and rubber "expanders"). Men and women in health may count with confidence upon agreeable work of a certain result of prolonged work of this character, especially provided, but the repetition of the same movements daily for several weeks will bring many to a condition of mind somewhat similar to that of the man who ate forty-seven partridges at one meal.

EXERCISE AND FUN COMBINED.

Punching the bag, boxing, wrestling, fencing, dancing and tumbling, however, scarcely ever become monotonous. Tumbling is a form of exercise which affords as salutary a physical exercise as any movement and healthful exertion. It is adapted to the weakness of children, the strength of men and the airy grace of women. The whole family can participate in the muscle building.

FIG. 1. nerve stimulating, lung expanding, heart strengthening amusement provided by "Tumbling at Home."

"Tumbling" is meant not merely the exercises which are commonly supposed to be covered by the term, such as the various forms of calisthenics, all the bodily movements which a broad use of the term would imply. Our earliest days are filled with tumbles galore, and sometimes with the thought of a tumble to lie at all times of life when we see a person stumble and fall, even though we may know the bump has been a hard one.

Tumbling, then, is sure to be popular, especially if the father and mother lay aside their weight of care and dignity and join in the fun.

WILL REDUCE EXCESS WEIGHT. In addition to their amusing and stimulating characteristics, many of the tumbling movements exceed any drug prescriptions for the quieting down of overexcited nerves, the correction of digestive disorders and functional irregularities, etc. Some sufferers do not hesitate to take poison as medicine; others will walk barefoot on the dead leaves in the dead of winter, then, in the score of feeling; a few will lie down in bed, make themselves limp, and then, as if by magic, they will have lost all the weight of the body.

Tumbling, then, is sure to be popular, especially if the father and mother lay aside their weight of care and dignity and join in the fun.

FIG. 2. close their eyes and mutter to themselves: "I am getting well; the disease is leaving me; I feel it taking me; my muscles are now free and warm; my lungs are healed; my heart is strong; I am well." Then why not tumble?

SIMPLE TUMBLING MOVEMENTS.

Tumbling for fun requires no apparatus save enough rugs or a mattress to make your downfall comfortable. When the whole family is prepared to take turns, advise, criticize and share in the sport, proceed as follows:

(1) Run quickly to the center of the room, spring into the air and click the heels together twice before alighting. The juvenile page for this is: "Run the distance of a room, then jump."

(2) Place the toes of both shoes upon some designated mark on the floor, then kneel. Rise without moving the toes from the mark, or touching the floor with the hands (both knees to leave the floor together).

(3) Kneel at the side of the mat. Grasp the instep of each foot with the corresponding hand, then sit on the mat. Next, well forward, pull the feet from the floor and run across the mat on the knees.

(4) Raise the heels, bend the knees as much as possible and place the hands inside the mat inside the knees. Throw the legs backward until they are straight and support the weight on the balls of the feet and the hands, as seen in FIG. 2. Then, without the hands, move the hands. Drag the feet so that the upper parts of the toes are against the floor.

(5) Start to trave as in the preceding, but with the hands from the floor and clasp them together, then replace the hands on the floor before the body falls. Do this rapidly three or four times.

(6) Start to trave as before. Spring forward from the toes and bring the hands as near as possible to the chest. As the feet are about to touch the mat press strongly from both hands and raise them a trifle; at the same time put the feet through and assume a sitting position with the legs to the side in front of you. After a few trials it will not be necessary to raise the hands.

(7) Put yourself into the starting position of the preceding exercise. Raise both hands from the mat and snap the chest. Keep the hands down and raise both feet backward and kick the heels together. Spring the hands and feet in the same time and while in the air clasp the hands and click the heels. Do this quickly several times.

(8) Raise the heels. Bend the knees as much as possible and rest the tips of the fingers on the floor. Extend one leg forward until it is straight, and rest the heel of that foot on the floor. Rise without losing balance, and the heel of that foot with the other knee. If any difficulty is experienced it may be overcome by leaning well forward in the attempt to rise.

(10) Take the toes of the left foot in the right hand. Jump through with the right foot. Lift right knee high; be confident and the trick is done. Keep right hand with the left hand. When this is done easily jump backward to the starting position.

(11) Lie on the back. Raise the legs and support the weight on the back, the arms, the shoulders and the elbows. The hands hold the waist. The fingers behind and thumbs in front. The legs should be vertical. Bend knees until they almost touch the face. Kick the waist slightly and kick the legs as vigorously as possible. You will be lifted clear of the mat and moved a few inches backward.

(12) Stand with the heels about two feet apart from the toes with the fingers slightly bent and spread. Put the chin against the chest and lean forward until the back of the head rests on the mat. Push strongly with the hands and roll forward. The hands close to the chest. As the toes leave the mat swing the arms vigorously forward and grasp the legs a little above the knee and pull. This will bring you over on your feet in the squatting position. If there is room for another, take the hands off the shins, put them on the mat and proceed as before. This is the "forward roll."

(14) Backward Roll—Raise the heels and bend the knees as much as possible, keeping the back nearly straight and the arms to the sides. Rest the fingers on the floor to maintain balance. Throw yourself backward so as to touch the mat in the following order: The heels, the hip, the back, the hands, the shoulders, the head. The hands are straight backward so that the roll is begun and are placed down as the roll begins. As the toes leave the mat swing the arms vigorously forward and grasp the legs a little above the knee and pull. This will bring you over on your feet in the squatting position. If there is room for another, take the hands off the shins, put them on the mat and proceed as before. This is the "backward roll."

(15) Backward Roll to Handstand—Lie on the back, the head to the floor, the hands touch the mat. In the roll the knees will be close to the chest. Kick as vigorously as possible upward and backward and straighten the arms. If the kick is not high enough up in the air you will come to the handstand position. In your early trials, however, you will go backward to stand on your feet.

(16) Dive—Have some one kneel crosswise of the mat. Stand on one side, put your hands down on the opposite side and roll over. Next time lean forward, give a slight jump and stand on the hands. Do not allow the arms to bend suddenly, but gradually, so that you will not come down with a hard bump. You can

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Los Angeles Ebell.

The Ebell Club held its first meeting in its new rooms at the Shakespeare House yesterday. Pictures and other ornaments belonging to the club had been moved from their old quarters to the new ones, and gave a home-like look to them, and a recent portrait of Mrs. Burdette, a recent acquisition of the club, reminded of the old associations. The fine room available for section meetings will be a great convenience to the club, and the auditorium holds some two hundred more than that at Ebell Hall; yet it was perhaps meritable that many of the club members were a little homely yesterday, a number rather have a house of their own, even a small one, and the hope was expressed that some day their desire may be realized.

No special ceremonies marked the entrance into the quarters, and the regular programme, the "report" of the action section, was carried on. Miss F. M. Lockhart, curator of the section, read a paper on the work for the year, which has been a very successful one. Some cholo music was contributed by Miss Virginia Metalac. Miss Evelyn Humberstone an original short story, entitled "Each-scholatia," and Miss Denzen reviewed "Audrey." The chief paper of the afternoon was by Mrs. A. L. Brown, "The Short Story." She said, in "The French language, terse, concise and epigrammatic, adapts itself to the particular needs of this line of literature." The good short story, however, is the most vital and distinctive part of American literature. Half a century ago Hawthorne and Poe wrote their short stories, while it was only ten or twenty years ago that the French received English recognition. Indeed, almost as soon as America began to boast of any literature at all, it had good short stories.

"A good short story does not answer to the description that some writer has given of it as 'a novel in a week.' A novel is a picture of a nation; its customs, a short story is a single incident, its consequences. Ingenuity, originality and brevity are the essentials, while polish is necessary, and every word must be well-chosen."

VALUABLE WATCH STOLEN.

Sam Ferrers Appropriated His Landlady's Timespiece and Pawned It—Police Know Him.

Sam Ferrers, who was formerly employed by the Simon & Hack Fruit Company, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officers Hawley and Auble and booked for larceny. He is charged with stealing a gold watch, valued at $150, from a trunk in the bedroom of a lady. The ticket held by the pawnbroker bore Ferrers' name and when he was arrested yesterday a duplicate was found in his vest pocket. He admitted the theft.

The watch was first missed last Thursday, and since then officers have been looking for it, with the result that it was discovered in a safe in the pawnshop of Pascal Steppes, father of the boy, who at his son had recently shown signs of mental development.

Inquest Over the Remains of Young Steffes Who Shot Himself Sunday, Disclose No Motive.

A coroner's jury yesterday rendered a verdict of suicide in the case of Matthias Steffes, the young electrician who blew out his brains with a pistol Sunday afternoon at the Windham, No. 109½ South Broadway.

Lille Smith, the young woman in front of whose door he fell, testified that she had refused him admission to her room, stating that the rules of the house did not permit her to receive men. Immediately on her closing the door she said that the shot was heard. She could ascribe no reason for the death save intoxication. Pascal Steppes, father of the boy, stated that his son had recently shown signs of mental development.

DIRECT LEGISLATION.

The Direct Legislation of California was organized last night at 107 Potrero. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, and officers elected as follows: President, Dr. John Haynes; secretary, George H. Dunlop; treasurer, W. H. Stuart. These, with C. C. Reynolds and R. H. Norton, compose the Executive Committee. A committee was appointed to attend a meeting of the San Francisco Improvement Society last Friday evening to discuss direct legislation. The organization is absolutely non-partisan, and will hold weekly meetings at the above address on each Saturday evening during all winter. All interested are cordially invited to attend the meetings.

Boiler-Makers Strike at San Bernardino.

MEN IN SANTA FE SHOPS LAY DOWN THEIR TOOLS.

Old Employee, Threatened With Discharge for Refusing to Obey Orders, Appeals to Union and All Hands are Called Out.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 26.—The entire force in the boiler-maker department of the Santa Fe shops in this city went out on strike this morning. With one exception every man employed, including helpers and apprentices, laid down his tools, and they state that they will not go back until their grievance is right.

There was no preliminary talk, and in fact only a few of the workmen really knew what the strike had been called for until after they had left the shop and gone into conference.

The grievance of the boiler-makers which caused the strike is over the discharge of Boiler-maker Wilson, one of the oldest men in point of service in that department of the Santa Fe. Wilson was not actually discharged, but was told he would be unless he agreed to go to Arizona. After a conference with the company's agents he agreed to remain with the company in accordance with the company's wishes.

Last Saturday Wilson was transferred to Seligman, but he refused to go. The company then told him that he would be discharged unless he chose to go to Arizona, where he was needed to do some work. Wilson placed the matter before the Boiler-makers' Union, and it was agreed that the order would back up Wilson.

About forty boiler-makers, eighteen apprentices and the helpers walked out. The apprentices are not members of the union, but were on strike in sympathy with the boiler-makers, who have promised to protect them when the differences are adjusted. The apprentices are a four-year contract with the railroad, and the strike of the former strike the helpers and apprentices remained at work.

A meeting of boiler-makers, eighteen apprentices and the helpers walked out at the union hall in the Old Town this morning at 9 o'clock. During the former strike there was considerable drinking and talking going on among some of the men. This morning the members of the union, themselves, refused to give out any information and to refrain from drinking intoxicants.

Other departments of the machine shop are in sympathy with the boiler-makers and, so far, that, if necessary, they will walk out, too.

REDLANDS.

BRIEF ITEMS OF INTEREST.

REDLANDS, May 26.—The Contemporary Club held its last meeting of the season this afternoon. President Adams and the university of Wisconsin delivered an address. Talking for his subject "Queen Louise." After the programme tea was served. There was a large attendance.

The Casa Loma will close for the season next Wednesday. The winter has been one of the most successful in the hotel's existence.

A. G. Hunt departed Saturday evening for San Francisco to attend to his business interests there. Wednesday Mrs. Hubbard and their children will leave to join him. Saturday next the family will start for Honolulu, and before returning, they will visit Japan.

Tourists continue to visit Redlands in large numbers. The Board of Trade rooms were opened this morning.
Kevitt Thaxer's vacation is still waiting on the "dull season."

The Sports Committee of the Fourth of July celebration is endeavoring to arrange for a good baseball game between a nine from San Bernardino and a local aggregation.

The Supervisors of the county are today having McKinley avenue treated with oil, which was needed very badly. The street is famous and known as Crescent Boulevard and forms a part of the famous McKinley Drive.

Some time has elapsed since the City Trustees and officers announced that parties selling temperance beer would be prosecuted. Since the time this law was made effectual the officers have done nothing, and the saloons and merchants are evidently complying with the ordinance.

PLAN INCORPORATION BATTLE IS BEGUN.

FIRST SKIRMISH IN COURT AT SAN BERNARDINO.

Supervisors Refuse to Canvass Returns of Election at Which Citizens of North Ontario Voted to Incorporate.
Mandamus Suit Probable.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 26.—The preliminary skirmish in what promises to be a fierce legal battle, over the matter of the incorporation of the town of Upland, or North Ontario, took place today before the Board of Supervisors. Some weeks ago, the Supervisors, in response to a petition, called an election to be held at North Ontario, to vote on the question of the incorporation of the town of the new town of Upland. Subsequently, the Supervisors were persuaded by those opposing incorporation to rescind their action, and call the election off. Instructions to this effect were sent to those who had previously been delegated to act as officers of the election.
But when the day first named on which they came, it was held, came around, the instructions of the Supervisors were disregarded, and the election was held, and almost every vote cast was for incorporation. Today, Attorney
E. E. Summers, representing Kirk
Vernon, one of the newly-elected Trustees of the town of Upland, appeared before the Supervisors and demanded that they canons the return of the election. After upon the advice of the District Attorney, the Supervisors denied that they had any official knowledge of an election being held, and declined to have anything to do with
